

RECOMMENDED

Twerking Florida woman accused of exposing herself to kids at pool

Elephant rips handler in half in Thailand after working in extreme heat: report

C
oi

Woman sues psychiatrist for approving gender transition after just one meeting

By Snejana Farberov

August 24, 2022 10:17am Updated

An Australian woman who transitioned to male, before realizing it was a mistake, is suing a psychiatrist after he approved her female-to-male hormone therapy and surgery. She filed a lawsuit on Tuesday, August 23, in federal court in New York City, claiming the psychiatrist, Dr. Jay Langadinos, failed to properly inform her of the risks and consequences of the transition. She also claims that Dr. Langadinos was not properly licensed to perform the surgery.

Jay Langadinos, now 31, was just 19 when she met him, a psychiatrist, in May 2010.

The teen was referred to him by her endocrinologist, who was treating her for gender dysphoria. She transitioned to male, but later realized it was a mistake and wanted to transition back to female. She claims that Dr. Langadinos did not properly inform her of the risks and consequences of the transition.

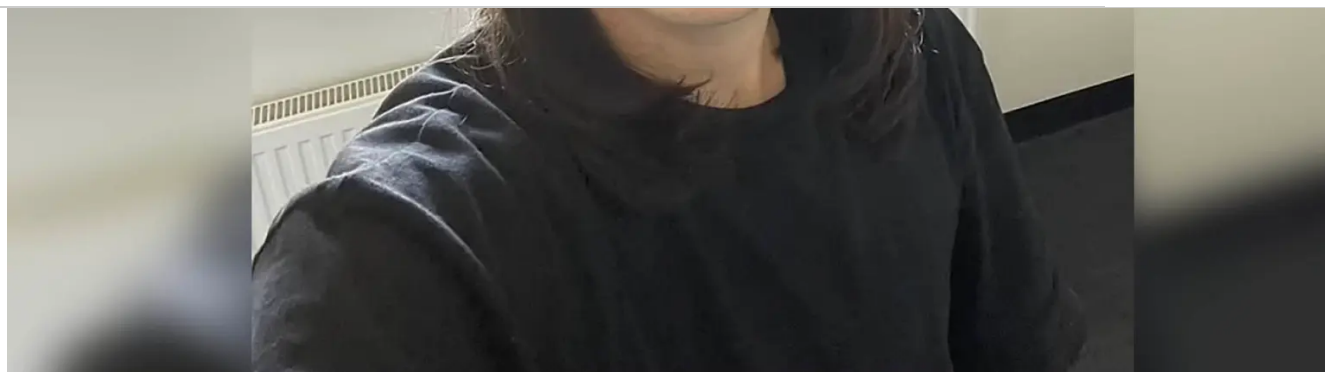

Cassville Superintendent Merlyn Johnson said parents had expressed frustration that corporal punishment was no longer allowed

RECOMMENDED

Twerking Florida woman accused of exposing herself to kids at pool

Elephant rips handler in half in Thailand after working in extreme heat: report

C
oi

Jay Langadinos, who no longer considers herself a male, claims Dr. Patrick Toohey signed off on her gender transition surgeries without much consideration.

The specialist wrote that Langadinos was very young and needed “a throughout psychiatric work-up before embarking on hormone treatment,” according to a statement of claim filed in the New South Wales Supreme Court and cited by the Sydney Morning Herald.

After his first meeting with the teen, Toohey concluded that Langadinos suffered from gender dysphoria and was fit for testosterone therapy, the document states.

MORE ON:
TRANSGENDER

Arkansas can't ban treatment for transgender kids, appeals court rules

'Batgirl' star filled with 'grief,' pleads for studio to release scrapped film

Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene's home is 'swatted' for second time in as many days

Trans golfer fighting to join LPGA 'totally different' than Lia Thomas: Caitlyn Jenner

The next time Langadinos had an appointment with Toohey in February 2012, she told him she was eager to undergo “top” surgery to have her breasts surgically removed as part of her transition.

Toohey approved the double mastectomy for his patient, who underwent the procedure in April of that year, according to the court filing.

,

;

,

|

|

,

|

Now, nearly a decade later, Langadinos — who no longer

RECOMMENDED

Twelving Florida woman accused of exposing herself to kids at pool

Elephant rips handler in half in Thailand after working in extreme heat: report

C
OI

Langadinos says that in 2016 — four years after her hysterectomy — she was receiving psychiatric treatment from another doctor when she “came to the realization that she should not have undergone the hormone therapy or the first and second surgeries.”

In 2020, Langadinos consulted an endocrinologist about stopping her testosterone treatment.

In the documents, Langadinos argues that Toohey should have realized she might be autistic and referred her for further treatment.

She also contends that her social phobia should have been treated before she was ever prescribed hormone therapy.

Langadinos says in her statement of claim that the hormones and surgeries left her suffering from injuries, disabilities and complications, including early menopause, anxiety and depression, impaired psychological functioning and diminished capacity for employment.

School district bans preferred pronouns, transgender sports participation

Start your day with all you need to know

Morning Report delivers the latest news, videos, photos and more.

Enter your email address

SIGN UP

By clicking above you agree to the Terms of Use and Privacy Policy

In an interview with the Australian news outlets the Age and the Sydney Morning Herald, the 31-year-old said: “Knowing that I can’t have children explained that growing up, she felt she was s attracted to girls. At 17, she went online and r

“I thought, ‘That’s what I have.’ I decided that had in my body,” she said.

RECOMMENDED

Twelving Florida woman accused of exposing herself to kids at pool

Elephant rips handler in half in Thailand after working in extreme heat: report

C
oi

In a letter to an andrology fellow, Toohey allegedly said that when he first saw Langadinos, he had noted “a past history of significant social phobia and depression which may have been beyond gender dysphoria,” according to the filing.

FILED UNDER AUSTRALIA, HORMONES, LAWSUITS, PSYCHIATRY, SURGERY, TRANSGENDER, 8/24/22

READ NEXT Scuba diver demonstrates how to prevent shark attack — o...

Conversation 505 Comments

2 Viewing

Share your stance. Please adhere to our guidelines.

Join the conversation

Sort by Best

Siempre • 1 day ago

Do not blame the doctor. This person who was legally able to make decisions went for a legally required exam that nearly asks if the person is competent to make their own decisions and that the decision has to do with gender surgery. If someone later changes their mind, that is the personal respon...See more

Reply • 190 • Share

Snaggletooth718 • 1 day ago

This. Do not blame the doctor fo butcher yourself. It is your fault ;
your various surgeries you decid

Reply • 77 • Share

2 replies

Qaz11 • 1 day ago

RECOMMENDED

Twerking Florida woman accused of exposing herself to kids at pool

Elephant rips handler in half in Thailand after working in extreme heat: report

C
OI

when someone is diagnosed with an addiction, doctors don't respond by feeding into the addiction, and giving them drugs, alcohol, food. They work to understand the underlying causes. I don't understand why, in this situation, doctors just sign them up for surgery. There's CLEARLY an underlying, ...See more

Reply · 197 · Share

Anna1452 · 1 day ago

Or a girl with an eating disorder who is 105lbs yet the "affirming" therapist agrees with her despite objective evidence she is starving herself to death and prescribes her a diet. That is what "gender affirming care" is all about instead of exploring WHY and the root causes and determining if it i...See more

Reply · 94 · Share

James Sivard · 1 day ago

This is as if someone went to a psychiatrist and told them they were Napoleon, and the doctor recommended that he buy the appropriate uniform and general's headgear.

Reply · 122 · Share

3 replies

Show 4 more replies

ata777 · 1 day ago

The sickness of this entire movement cannot be understated. These people are intent on destroying objective reality and the nuclear family, with the ultimate end game of forcing people to believe that which they know is manifestly untrue.

And forcing people to believe that which they know is manifestly untrue...See more

Reply · 161 · Share

Gamma Sun · 1 day ago

Raising the chocolate rations fro

Reply · 8 · Share

HunterBidensLaptop · 1 day ago

Trans people are not real... just j

Reply · 38 · Share

1 reply

Show 3 more replies

RECOMMENDED

Twerking Florida woman accused of exposing herself to kids at pool

Elephant rips handler in half in Thailand after working in extreme heat: report

C
OI

MORE STORIES

PAGE SIX

Maria Shriver looks unrecognizable while visiting

RECOMMENDED

Twerking Florida woman accused of exposing herself to kids at pool

Elephant rips handler in half in Thailand after working in extreme heat: report

C
OI

Suzanne Somers: My last meeting with 'broken' Richard Simmons before disappearance