

National World in pictures

The Sydney Morning Herald, Photos of the Week, August 25, 2022

 33 IMAGES

The week in photos from the award-winning SMH and AFR photographers. Follow us on Twitter @photosSMH

August 26, 2022 – 4.47pm

 Save

1/33

Heavy snow falls across the Blue Mountains in Katoomba. DEAN SEWELL

2/33

Jay Langadinos transitioned from a woman to a man after suffering from body dysphoria. She had chest surgery, a hysterectomy, and took male hormones. Now she is transitioning back to being female, and is suing her psychiatrist for professional negligence. JANIE BARRETT

3/33

Snow begins to fall in Blackheath in the Blue Mountains as a significant cold front makes its way across the state. WOLTER PEETERS

4/33

Qantas CEO Alan Joyce leaves a press conference after announcing the airline's FY22 results.

PETER RAE

5/33

Ella Callis was hospitalised after surgery went horribly wrong at a Cosmos Clinic in Melbourne, where she was having a Brazilian butt lift and liposuction in five places, including her chin and abdomen. SIMON SCHLUTER

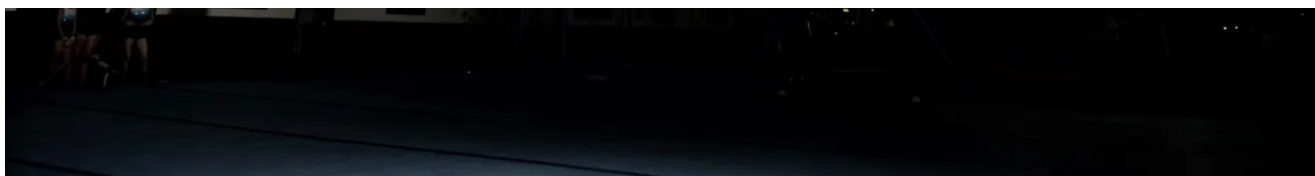

6/33

Prosper, 17, intends to join a small-scale mining crew to make money as job opportunities in the Gbane community are limited in the Talensi District, Upper East Region, Ghana. FRANCIS KOKOROKO

7/33

Oksana Noskova and her daughter Arina Noskova, 3, who have recently arrived from Kyiv, attend a Ukraine Independence Day event at Circular Quay. KATE GERAGHTY

8/33

Gymnast Chloe Muntz from Manly Warringah Gymnastics Club practises her technique. NICK MOIR

9/33

Commuters wait at Circular Quay train station, after the City Circle train line was shut down due to industrial action between the state government and the rail union. LOUISE KENNERLEY

10/33

Mourners at the funeral of Lametta Fadlallah at St Charbel's Maronite Church in Punchbowl.

NICK MOIR

11/33

A UNSW-developed exercise program for children with cancer has helped young patients to rebuild muscle tone after chemotherapy. Kingston took part in the program as part of his recovery from stage four cancer treatment, and is now in a rep soccer team travelling to play against UK academies. FLAVIO BRANCALEONE

12/33

Vince Bolton and Royce, 5, build a snowman on Shooters Hill near Oberon, as a significant cold front makes its way across the state. WOLTER PEETERS

13/33

AFLW Sydney Swans player Sarah Ford, 26, at Henson Park, Marrickville. She is an engineer with Northrop Consulting Engineers and is working on Henson Park, which will become the Swans' home ground later in the year. JAMES BRICKWOOD

14/33

Musicians Chuck Johnson and J.W. Paton, pictured in front of Sol LeWitt's wall painting, met for the first time in Sydney after months collaborating remotely on their new composition.

LOUISE KENNERLEY

15/33

Former mining project manager Andrew Head, with his dog, Bronsure, is a key witness in the investigation into the deaths of more than 60 miners in Ghana and the theft of $100 million worth of Australian gold. JANIE BARRETT

16/33

Traffic heads from the city to North Sydney across the Harbour Bridge. WOLTER PEETERS

17/33

Tash Galgut models Seafolly swimwear on Bondi Beach. Seafolly is expanding with new direct-to-consumer sites in the UK, plus new sites for the US, Australia and Singapore. LOUIE DOUVIS

18/33

Rasmus King, 17, is a pro surfer turned actor whose first role was in Bosch & Rockit, effectively playing writer-director Tyler Atkins as a 14-year-old. Atkins grew up in the Northern Rivers area, the son of a dope dealer constantly in trouble with the law. STEVEN SIEWERT

19/33

The newly completed Allianz Stadium at Moore Park. WOLTER PEETERS

20/33

Director of First Nations programs Jacob Boehme (left), First Nations drag queen Nana Miss Koori, and Carriageworks CEO Blair French. Carriageworks is launching the inaugural First Nations program. RHETT WYMAN

21/33

NSW Premier Dominic Perrottet takes to the tools at the newly opened $157 million state-of-the-art TAFE multi-trades training facility in Meadowbank, NSW. KATE GERAGHTY

22/33

Prime Minister Anthony Albanese meets staff at Cerrone Jewellers in Leichhardt. KATE GERAGHTY

23/33

Minister for Sport Alister Henskens has announced that Arthur Beetson, Ron Coote, Betty Cuthbert, Nick Shehadie and Johnny Warren are the first five honourees at Allianz Stadium, which will officially open on Sunday. DEAN SEWELL

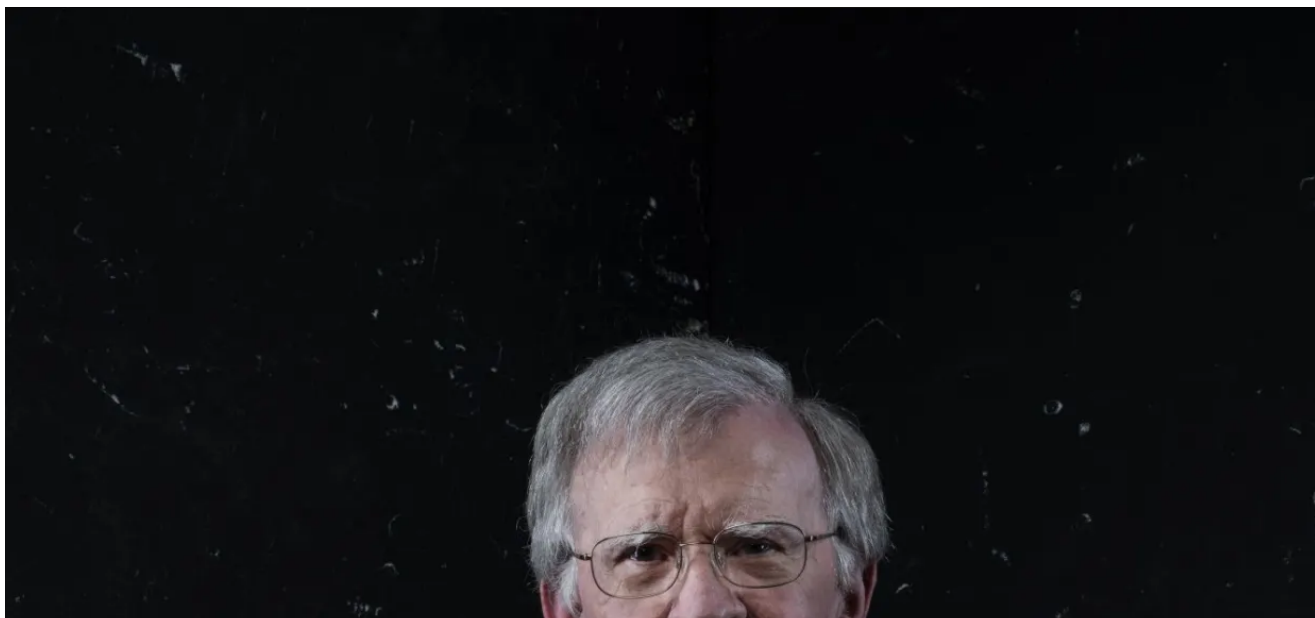

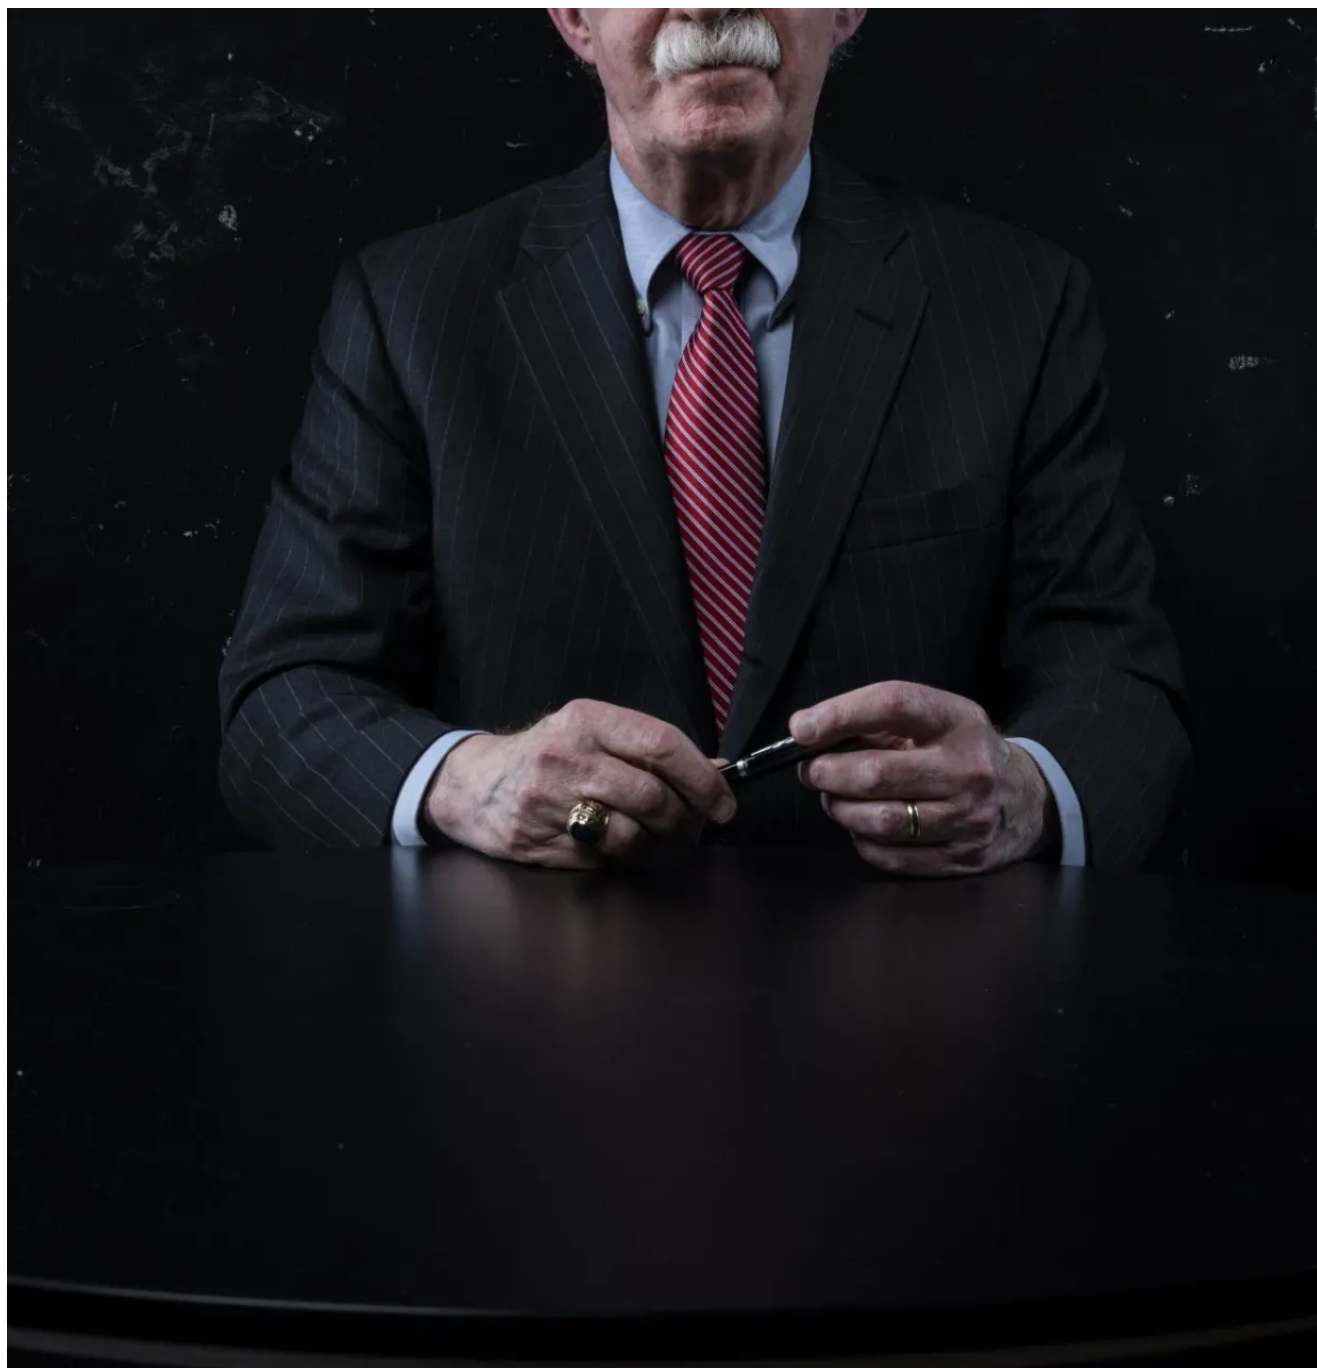

24/33

Beks Bloomz florist Rebecca Gerstner puts the finishing touches on the Edith Cowan display - part of a tribute to famous Australian women at international flower show Fleur Deville, at The Calyx in Royal Botanic Garden Sydney. WOLTER PEETERS

25/33

Screenwriter Sarah Walker at the Belvoir St Theatre steps. NICK MOIR

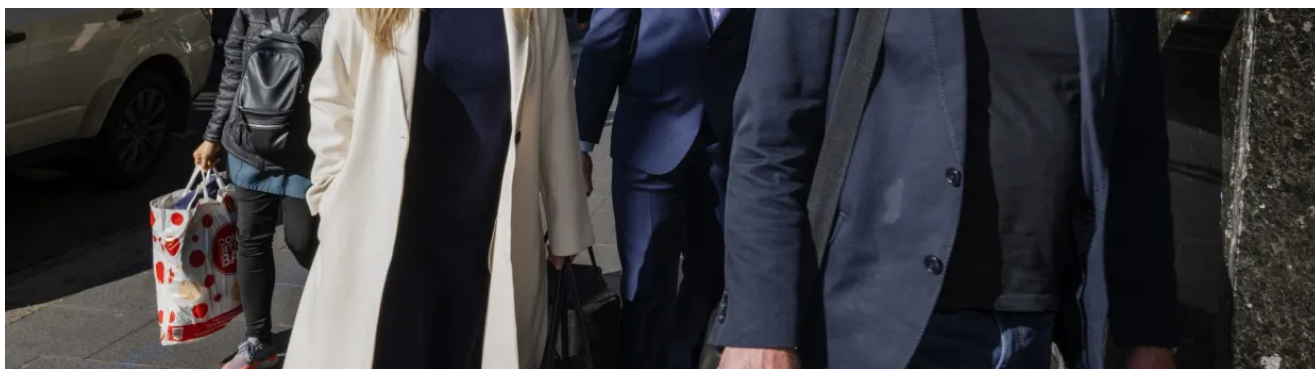

26/33

John Bolton, former national security advisor to Donald Trump. LOUISE KENNERLEY

27/33

Kyle Daniels arrives at the Downing Centre Court, Sydney. Daniels is facing charges relating to sexually touching children during his work as a swim coach. LOUISE KENNERLEY

28/33

A rape survivor who gave her victim impact statement in children's court. WOLTER PEETERS

29/33

Steve Cox, CEO of Destinations NSW. DEAN SEWELL

30/33

Film director George Miller. TIM BAUER

31/33

Dr Meredith Bergman with the Ernie awards for various categories. This year's awards for sexism will be the final, after running for 30 years. NICK MOIR

32/33

Swimmers at Coogee make the most of mild overnight conditions. PETER RAE

33/33

Heavy snow falls across the Blue Mountains in Katoomba. DEAN SEWELL